

Programming

The Siuslaw Public Library District offers programs and exhibits intended to further the library's mission. Library programs strengthen the library as a vital part of the community, enhance the library experience for regular library users, and help the library reach out to new and diverse constituencies. The library will endeavor to offer a wide variety of programs for children, adults and families to appeal to the full range of interests and information needs of the community.

- Library programming for the public may include literature or literacy-based programs, cultural arts programs, storytimes, summer reading programs, author talks, book discussion groups, and other activities, as well as instructional classes on library resources.
- Friends of the Library groups and other library-related organizations may also sponsor programs and exhibits in library facilities.
- When it furthers the library mission to do so, the library may participate in cooperative programs or exhibits with other agencies, organizations, institutions or individuals.
- No admission fees will be charged at library programs or exhibits. (For further information on room use refer to "Meeting Rooms Policy and Rules of Use.")
- The library will endeavor to include a broad spectrum of opinion and a variety of viewpoints in library-initiated programs and exhibits. Library sponsorship of a program or exhibit does not constitute an endorsement of the content of the program or the views expressed by participants.
- Every attempt will be made to accommodate all who wish to attend a program. However, when safety or the success of a program requires it, attendance may have to be limited. When limits must be established, attendance will be determined on a first-come, first-served basis, either with advance registration or at the door. In some cases, the nature and success of a program may require a limited attendance based on age (e.g., an arts and crafts program for children).
